The Mel Brooks project, like all "soft" projects, consists of making sense of the Mel Brooks films in the way that they represent Mel Brooks, they represent the times, and they represent something of value for our times and all times, and they represent something of value for us.

I can relate to High Anxiety, but what makes Blazing Saddles into a good movie? What is the moral? The main character is the hero and wins the day because he sticks with the Victorian ideals of the day: loyalty to tradition.
What is the novel of Blaney Saddle's? Outrider becomes hero because he helps to do his job. If you are appointed sheriff, you need to act like a sheriff regardless of whither people believe in you or not. It is your moral character that matters, not what people think and their prejudices. Despite his poor Jewish background, Ike Brodey could still become the king of a county.

tony ravenshine. Nothing could not escape his destiny as a Jew.

silent movie, complete the project - artist as commercial intents. Art will win.

Breakdown of KAPPA. I am feeling magnificent results, getting better each year, getting immense air.

At one point this turned into a nightmare.

I do not know I am alone in this silence. Why does it happen? How could it have been prevented? Why can be done after the breakdown?
